

Play unplugged.. Supporting Social and Emotional Thinking through joyful warm relating

THINKING, RELATING and COMMUNICATING THROUGH PLAY!

My play-based, reflective thinking work with children provides each child an opportunity to better understand themselves and others. Through child-generated imaginary play, problem solving, storytelling, and mindful living games, your child will have the opportunity to face challenges similar to those experienced throughout their day. Combining this work with explicit parent coaching enables you to better provide the support you are seeking for your child's emotional and social thinking through the clarity of your own intentional, playful parenting.

Go to shelleymarcus.com for more information.
or cell/text Shelley directly at: 770-335-4200
Groupings, pairings and individual work will be scheduled as appropriate for applicants needs.